A Message from Monte...

The Intermittent Leak: Separating Fact from Fiction

Have you seen it? A pool is clearly losing water and then it appears to lose no water, then just as suddenly, it loses water again. How can this happen?

Usually, an intermittent leak signals a structural leak in the pool -- maybe in the plaster surface, near the tile line, in the grout or in the light niche. Typically, these leaks stop temporarily because debris in the pool is getting sucked into the leak, thereby plugging it. But the leak will start up again when this plugged debris begins to erode. These leaks can be common at plaster leaks around main drains, where debris gathers at the bottom of the pool. This type of leak can be difficult and frustrating to find, because... a leak has to be leaking to be able to find it! Keeping the pool clean of all debris is the best way to avoid the intermittent leak so be sure to call your pool service company! And as always, thanks for all the referrals, we appreciate your support!

A Special Presentation Proposing a New Partnership...

Becky Herz is a Senior Recreation Manager for Sunrise Recreation and Park District. She has been involved with aquatics and aquatics management for over 28 years. For the past 6 years, she has been managing the River Safety Program -- a successful outreach program that makes swimming lessons and water safety education accessible to immigrant and low income children in the Citrus Heights community. Becky will be presenting a proposal to work with Capital Valley IPSSA to develop a similar outreach program at the Antelope Aquatic Complex. The proposed partnership with CVIPSSA and Sunrise Recreation and Park District would provide one month of swim lessons, and several family-safety days to families in Antelope and Sacramento who would not otherwise have the means to take swimming lessons. This grass-roots program would promote the drowning prevention mission that all of us embrace as aquatics professionals.
